Women Innovators in Design

Jane Brown

Jane Brown's work explores the fusion of logic, illogic, emotion and self expression in design. As Creative Director at MetaDesign, Brown has built an international career designing and directing branded solutions for a wide range of clients, from startups to established global corporations. She has worked internationally in Canada, Sweden, Switzerland, UAE and the United States. Her accumulated experience includes the creation of identities and brand systems, corporate communications, editorial, book design, packaging and web design.
